

Dieffenbachia

Kingdom: Plantae

Division: Magnoliophyta

Class: Liliopsida Monocotyledons

Sub Class: Arecidae

Order: Arales

Family: Araceae

Genus: Dieffenbachia

Species: Dieffenbachia seguine

Dumb cane plant is of herbaceous plant commonly grown as house plant. Numerous horticultural varieties have been developed and the plant is prized for its attractive foliage and the ability to tolerate low light intensities. Dumb cane is native to Tropical America and the West Indies. Cultivated varieties typically have large simple leaves that are often variegated with other greens. Flowers separates the two sexes. Clusters of bright red or red orange berries are the resultant fruits.

REPORT Prepared by

Shiv Shanker Singh

[BTMBC] 1st YEAR