AAA Report

The External Academic and Administrative Audit Committee members have conducted Academic and Administrative Audit for the Institute Named: "Keshav Memorial Institute of Commerce and Sciences, Narayanaguda, Hyderabad – 500 029" for the academic year 2022-23 on 10-05-2023

External Academic Audit Team's Observation for AY 2022-23

1. Curriculum Evaluation: Overall, the curriculum is in satisfactory conformity with industry norms and requirements for future employment markets. Nonetheless, deficiencies have been found in some specialized fields, especially in newly developing areas like sustainable development and technology use. It is observed that there are insufficient interdisciplinary courses and chances for students to investigate cross-cutting subjects. Enhancing the academic experience could be achieved by providing more diversified elective courses and promoting multidisciplinary collaborations.

2. Faculty Assessment: Faculty members' qualifications are sufficient to fill academic positions. Nonetheless, in order to stay current with developments in their respective domains and pedagogical techniques, ongoing professional development programs are required.

3. Infrastructure Review: Well-equipped classrooms, labs, and library spaces provide sufficient support for the academic activities offered by the college. To guarantee that learning opportunities remain uninterrupted, there are, however, sporadic maintenance concerns that require immediate correction.

4. Student Performance Analysis: Metrics related to student performance show acceptable graduation rates and academic accomplishments. Retention rates, however, are clearly declining, especially for students from marginalized backgrounds. Additional investigation shows that academic support programs like counselling and tutoring are not being used to their full potential. This problem might be lessened by putting pre-emptive initiatives in place to assist at-risk students and improve academic advising services.

5. Compliance and Governance: The College exhibits adherence to legal and accreditation requirements. Nonetheless, there exist prospects to optimize administrative procedures and augment transparency in the process of making decisions.

6. Suggestions:
   ➢ Create and put into place a methodical procedure for curriculum evaluation and updating in order to take into account new trends and requests from the market.
   ➢ Fund faculty development programs that emphasize the growth of research capacity, technological integration, and creative teaching approaches.
   ➢ Set priorities for maintenance and upgrades to the infrastructure according to usage trends and recognized needs.
   ➢ Increase the availability of student support services and carry out focused interventions to raise graduation and retention rates.
   ➢ Improve governance frameworks and set up procedures for continuing observation and assessment

These results give a thorough picture of the college's academic performance and point out areas that need to be improved to improve both students' and teachers' overall educational experiences.

1. The curriculum complies satisfactorily with industry standards and the demands of upcoming job markets. However, shortcomings have been discovered in several specialized disciplines, particularly in areas that are still emerging, including technology utilization and sustainable development.

2. The qualifications of faculty members are adequate to staff academic roles. However, continuing professional development programs are necessary to stay up to date with advancements in their respective fields and pedagogical approaches.

3. Academic Calendars /Departmental Calendars are not maintained properly including circulars.

4. For FDPs, workshops – Circulars, Brochures, Program sheet, details of sessions, are not maintained properly.

5. Metrics related to student performance show acceptable graduation rates and academic accomplishments. Retention rates, however, are clearly declining, especially for students from marginalized backgrounds.

6. The College demonstrates compliance with accreditation and legal standards. However, opportunities do exist to streamline administrative processes and enhance decision-making openness.

7. Suggestions:
   a. Establish and implement a systematic process for curriculum assessment and revision to accommodate emerging trends and market demands.
   b. Provide financial support for initiatives aimed at enhancing faculty research capabilities, incorporating technology, and fostering innovative pedagogical methods.
   c. To improve graduation and retention rates, expand the availability of student support services and implement targeted interventions.

These findings paint a complete picture of the college's academic standing and highlight areas in which enhancements are required to enhance the entire educational experience for both instructors and students.
